For literature lovers, the La Cabaña Book Fair is an annual event that attracts authors and bookworms from around the globe.

Indulging in Havana's Culinary Delights

Cuban cuisine is a tantalizing fusion of Spanish, African, and Caribbean flavors. Havana is a culinary paradise where you can indulge in traditional dishes like ropa vieja (shredded beef with flavorful sauce), arroz con pollo (chicken with rice), and lechón asado (roast pork). Don't forget to sample the refreshing mojito, Cuba's national cocktail, while listening to live music in a charming paladar (private restaurant).

For an authentic culinary experience, head to the Mercado de Cuatro Caminos, a bustling market where vendors sell fresh produce, seafood, and homemade treats. You'll also find street vendors offering delicious snacks like churros and pastelitos. Be sure to try the local café cubano, a strong and aromatic coffee that's a quintessential part of Havana's culture.

Take a salsa dance class and learn the basic steps, or simply let the music move you as you watch professional dancers perform.
