Sparky decided to ask his friends for help. He went to his friend Lily the Elf, who was an expert on all things Christmas. Lily was happy to help Sparky and she taught him how to decorate a Christmas tree. Sparky had never seen a Christmas tree before and he was amazed by how beautiful it was. He helped Lily hang ornaments on the tree and put a star on top.

Next, Sparky went to his friend Benny the Bear, who was a master at wrapping presents. Benny showed Sparky how to wrap a present perfectly and Sparky was soon wrapping presents for all of his friends. Sparky loved wrapping presents and he couldn't wait to give them to his friends on Christmas Day.

Finally, Sparky went to his friend Molly the Mouse, who was a great baker. Molly taught Sparky how to make Christmas cookies. Sparky had never baked cookies before, but he loved the way they smelled. He helped Molly cut out the cookies and decorate them with frosting and sprinkles.

With the help of his friends, Sparky was finally ready for Christmas. He had a decorated tree, wrapped presents, and delicious Christmas cookies. Sparky couldn't wait for Christmas Day to arrive so he could celebrate with his friends.

On Christmas Day, Sparky woke up early and opened his presents. He was so excited to see what his friends had gotten him. He got a new book, a new toy, and a new hat. Sparky was so grateful for all of the presents he received, but he was most grateful for the time he spent with his friends.

Sparky and his friends spent the rest of the day playing games, eating cookies, and singing Christmas carols. Sparky had the best Christmas ever and he learned that Christmas is more than just getting presents. It's about spending time with loved ones and celebrating the spirit of giving.

The end.
