

Little Turtle Tries Hello Genius

Little Turtle was a very shy and timid turtle. She was afraid of everything, from the big, wide world outside her shell to the other turtles in her pond. But most of all, she was afraid of the Hello Genius program at her school.

Hello Genius was a program for the smartest turtles in the pond. The turtles who were chosen for Hello Genius got to learn all sorts of amazing things, like how to solve math problems, how to write stories, and how to build things. Little Turtle dreamed of being a Hello Genius, but she was too afraid to even try.

One day, Little Turtle was sitting on a rock by the pond, feeling sorry for herself. She wished that she was brave enough to try Hello Genius, but she just couldn't bring herself to do it. Just then, a wise old owl flew down and landed on the rock next to her.

"Hello, Little Turtle," said the owl. "Why are you looking so sad?"

Little Turtle told the owl about her fear of Hello Genius. The owl listened patiently, and then she said, "Little Turtle, it's okay to be afraid. Everyone is afraid of something. But the important thing is to not let your fear stop you from trying new things."

"But what if I fail?" asked Little Turtle.

"Everyone fails sometimes," said the owl. "But the important thing is to learn from your mistakes and keep trying. Remember, the only way to succeed is to try."

Little Turtle took the owl's words to heart. She decided that she would no longer let her fear stop her from trying new things. She signed up for Hello Genius, and even though she was nervous at first, she quickly realized that she was good at it. She loved learning new things, and she made new friends in the program.

Little Turtle went on to become a Hello Genius, and she never forgot the lesson that the wise old owl had taught her. She learned that it's okay to be afraid, but that we should never let our fear stop us from trying new things. And she learned that sometimes the best things in life come from stepping outside of our comfort zones.
