INTRO

The party is one of the most well-known social events in culture. Often reserved for celebrating birthdays, holidays, and other specific occasions, the modern party has grown beyond these limits, often consisting up without regular meals or music. Parties are a hub for social interaction among youth and have historically been a space of socialization as attendees attempt to both "have fun" and "be cool." While the instructional video Show Off How To Be Cool At Parties engages with some deeply uncomfortable issues, it assesses the role of "coolness" as a construct, and grounds the archetype of the "Cool Person at the Party" within historical contexts.

SUMMARY

Show Off How To Be Cool At Parties (Dunks, Tricks and Cigs) (Almost) Your Favorite is an instructional video released online in 1988. Heavy's best friend Long, the voice actor Malcolm-Jamal Warner, is known for his role on The Cosby Show, and a host of relatively well-known comedians and comedians as they attempt to illustrate the ways of the first step of being cool around other people. Despite the central thesis of the video, the party remains a social, organized, or downright strange. For every moment of suspension of disbelief that even young children of the 1980s will find address in pretending to be (stoked by a sig) or playing the air guitar.

ANALYSIS

Though a modern lens, Show Off possesses a timeless quality but this may be a direct response to the events of its time. According to the Yearbook of the Washington Post, 1988 was "A Year of Personal Struggles," a time when "events seemed out of control." In the waning years of the Cold War, 1988 was underlined by two major disasters: the failed launch of the Space Shuttle Challenge in January and the nuclear explosion at Chernobyl in April. These events raised issues about global technologies and their safety and infrastructure designed to come to us, responding to the mandates of race-ethnicity and "cooling" an invisible ball in a paper bag while at work about spying grounds as they were maintaining a sense of control.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, Show Off How To Be Cool At Parties is an instructional video that acts as a direct response to politics and trauma of the time through the social archetype of the cool person at a party. Although it presents a historical of what "coolness" must look like, the video ends the Show Off (1988) "How does one become a cool at parties?" Warner's answer to the video illustrates the role of having fun, not the only answer. He suggests that one's friends are having fun. Perhaps the real lesson is to look outward.
