

What Was the March on Washington? A Historic Event for Civil Rights

On August 28, 1963, over 200,000 people gathered in Washington, D.C., for the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom. The march was organized by a coalition of civil rights groups, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The march was a culmination of years of organizing and activism by civil rights leaders. In the years leading up to the march, African Americans had faced widespread discrimination and segregation. They were denied basic rights, such as the right to vote, the right to equal employment opportunities, and the right to equal access to education.
